

American Academy of Family Physicians

October 18, 2006

To Whom It May Concern:

It is an honor and pleasure that I write this letter in regards to Dr. Michelle May. I have worked with Dr. May for several years and have witnessed many benefits to the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) since Dr. May has assumed leadership positions at the national level as a teacher, speaker and course chair in the AAFP's continuing medical education programs. Dr. May currently serves as chair of the AAFP's Women's Health and Physician Wellness CME Course.

Due to Dr. May's speaking abilities and innovative ideas, the Women's Health Course, which I manage, was recently revamped to include the important aspect of wellness. Dr. May's enthusiastic speaking style on wellness topics energizes the audience and has given new life to this course. Dr. May has spoken at several of the other CME courses that I manage, and her evaluations consistently rank among the top five percent of presenting faculty. Comments include:

"Excellent presenter. Passionate and knowledgeable."

"An expert in her field. "

"Superb, engaging, entertaining, believable speaker. Truly delightful-thank you."

"Dr. May's excitement is infectious."

Dr. May's service has been valuable, important and contributory to the national CME landscape. She is focused, deadline-oriented and has a never-ending energy. Anyone who has worked with Dr. May or heard her speak can attest to this. When I contacted Dr. May and signed her to Academy CME programs, I hit gold and I am thankful for the opportunity to work with her.

Respectfully Submitted,
